

APPLY
NOW!

A woman with short dark hair, wearing a black long-sleeved top, stands in a meeting room and presents to a group. She is holding a white sheet of paper and gesturing with her hands. In the background, a woman with long red hair and a man with a beard are seated at a table with laptops, looking towards the presenter. The room has large windows and a modern interior.

Research on Learning and Instruction
An Interdisciplinary Program

Master of Arts

Research on Learning and Instruction

What are the main topics?

- Cognitive, Motivational, Emotional, and Instructional processes
- Teaching and Learning with Media
- Teacher Professionalism and Heterogeneity
- Technology-Supported Assessment and Facilitation of Learning and Instruction
- Empirical Research Methods

What is special about the program?

- Strong research orientation
- Interdisciplinary focus
- Internationalization
- Intensive guidance
- Innovative course formats

Who is the target group?

Graduates from:

- Teacher Education programs
- Bachelor's programs related to research on learning and instruction (e.g., education, psychology, communication science)

Deadline for applications:
June 15th

More information:

www.uni-augsburg.de/psy/studium/RLI/

