

Ethik@Lunch

Vortragsreihe online via zoom
im Wintersemester 2026/27

Institute for Ethics and
History of Health in Society (IEHHS)

freitags
12:00 CET

environmental ethics inclusion empathy public health ethics trust social justice genomics medicine sustainability reproductive autonomy health genethics history of medicine health equity bioethics society policy global health responsibility digital health data-driven healthcare justice clinical ethics epistemic justice solidarity big data ethics new technologies

Veranstaltet durch:

Institute for Ethics and
History of Health in Society (IEHHS)
Ruth Horn, Verina Wild – Ethik der Medizin –
Universität Augsburg

Online via Zoom.

Den Link finden Sie auf der Internet-Seite:
www.uni-augsburg.de/med/ethiklunch

Ethik@Lunch

im Wintersemester 2026/27

Uhrzeit: 12:00 – 12:45 CET (Germany)
11:00 – 11:45 GMT (London, UK)

20 Minuten Impulsvortrag und
25 Minuten Diskussion

23. Oktober 2026

Assisting in dying, moral experience and social bonds
Marie Gaille
(CNRS, ENS, France)
This talk is in English.

06. November 2026

Confronting inequity and injustice in genomics:
,Black Bioethics', community engagement and sickle cell disease
Lydia Okoibhole
(University of Cambridge, UK)
This talk is in English.

20. November 2026

What is disease onset?
The ethics of onset prediction in genetic forms of dementia
Eline Bunnik
(Erasmus MC, The Netherlands)
This talk is in English.

04. Dezember 2026

Ethical challenges in rare disease research with children
Ariella Binik
(McMaster University, Canada)
This talk is in English.

18. Dezember 2026

Wozu Filme zeigen in der Ethik-Lehre?
Das Beispiel der Psychotherapie
Tobias Eichinger
(University of Zurich, Switzerland)

15. Januar 2027

Translationale Ethik und institutionelle Implementierung:
Über Triage, Therapiezielebestimmung und
Ziel-kongruente Behandlung
Kathrin Knochel
(TUM, Germany)

29. Januar 2027

Brain-Computer Interfaces 2027: Elon Musk, China, and the US Military
Lukas Meier
(Lund University Sweden)
This talk is in English.